MATH CENTER

The Math Center is open Monday to Thursday 10am to 9pm and Friday 10am to 7pm. It is run informally and is designed for easy drop-in usage. It works best to use the Center as a study room. It is a great place to meet up with your study partners and work on homework. If and as you need help, ask one of the Teaching Assistants or a Math Center Assistant. The Teaching Assistants are there to help you with your math assignments.

WRITING CENTER

The USC Writing Center's consultants work with students at every skill level and every stage of the writing process, from interpreting an assignment to producing a final draft.

PEER TUTORING

The Tutor Request System allows USC undergraduate students to request tutoring support for some of USC's traditionally challenging coursework. Tutoring is offered for select courses.

ACADEMIC ADVISING

Make sure to touch base with your academic advisor for educational and student support services throughout the academic year. Learn more about our Advising Team.

THE KORTSCHAK CENTER

The Kortschak Center is an excellent resource that assists with effective organization strategies, time and stress management, study skills, learning development, and more!

SUPPLEMENTAL INSTRUCTION

Supplemental Instruction (SI) provides regularly scheduled, peer-led study sessions for various courses. Work in small, collaborative groups with your classmates, review lecture material, course reading, and homework, and go over exam strategies with SI leaders who know the course and professors.

VITERBI LEARNING PROGRAM (VLP)

The Viterbi Learning Program supports undergraduate students through peer mentoring, tutoring, academic skills workshops, and group study sessions, helping students learn better study habits and thrive in their classes

MARSHALL CORE REVIEW SESSIONS

Core Review Sessions are via Zoom in a group, drop-in format and are designed to review content covered in the previous and/or current week for core Marshall courses. These sessions are facilitated by trained Peer Academic Leaders with the help of student interns. Students who attend can get additional assistance with the course concepts, but are expected to come prepared and attend class sessions regularly. Core Review Sessions are not a substitute for class and students should have questions prepared when attending the sessions.

OFFICE HOURS

No link attached. Make sure to review your course syllabi for instructions on how you can schedule an appointment with your instructor and/or TAs or attend office hours to get your course related questions answered.

USC STUDENT HEALTH CENTER

In order to thrive academically, we must practice self-care. The Student Health Center offers feel better workshops that promote wellness strategies for all.

OFFICE OF STUDENT ACCESSIBILITY SERVICES (OSAS)

The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) provides reasonable accommodations for students, factoring in the student's request, the nature of the student's disability, supporting documentation, and the fundamental requirements of courses, programs of study, and the University. Services include assistive technology, accommodated testing, and notetaking services.

CAMPUS SUPPORT & INTERVENTION (CSI)

Campus Support & Intervention (CSI) connects with members of the USC community when they need support in achieving their academic, professional, and/or personal goals. Whether you are seeking support for yourself or someone else, CSI is available to help you problem solve, understand options, and connect with resources.

WELCOME EXPERIENCE

USC Welcome Experience provides opportunities for new and incoming students to meet new people, discover communities and programs, and attend various events and activities

ACADEMIC HONORS AND FELLOWSHIPS

Academic Honors and Fellowships (AHF) is committed to educating the USC community about university awards and nationally competitive fellowships as well as mentoring students and recent alumni in their pursuit of these opportunities. AHF also advises USC Trustee, Presidential, Mork, and Stamps Scholars and works with the Trojan Scholar Society (TSS). Looking for funding opportunities for research, graduate study, internships, or international engagement? AHF has developed a framework and tools for navigating the "what" and "when" of internal and external awards and fellowships.

USC CAREER CENTER

Whether you are deciding on a major, exploring career options, seeking a job or internship, or looking for professional networks, the USC Career Center is committed to helping you achieve your professional goals. You can utilize the Career Center to:

- Complete a career assessment
- Get essential feedback on your resume
- Participate in a mock interview with a career advisor

EXPERIENCE USC

The new interactive student portal provides a virtual hub for resources, information and activities including academics, community, wellness, arts & culture, service and career.
